

GH ROSWITHA - SCHIESTL'S SUNNALM

Gh Roswith Mösl (1480m) - over the street to Schiestl's Sunnalm (1800m)

Starting point for this winter hiking tour is the Mösl (1480m) (parking place - 1387m). You have to go to the Schwendberger Street approximately 10 minutes outward. Information boards will show you the way that means you have to turn right and hike next to the street. After about one hour, there's a beautiful panorama. You are able to see three squall mountains, left starting the Gerlosstein wall (2166m), along the tapered edge peak of the Brandberger Kolm (2700m) and right the Ahornspitze (2976m). And far away you can see the Edelhütte (2238m).

After good 1 ½ hours you'll arrive the bus parking place. After that you have a ski slope to cross. Attention to the skiers and snowboarders! Maybe the slope is hard!

Keep going as good as you can straight ahead, because after a short stretch you'll come to a stable building and now keep hiking along the economic way.

If you look mountain upward you are able to see the flag of the Berggasthaus.

After a turning you go to the area of the ski slopes and so you'll arrive your goal - Schiestl's Sunnalm (1800m). For this hiking tour you needed approximately two hours. After refreshment you go along the starting point. If you won't go the whole way back, you are able to take a bus at the bus parking place. That means you go something about quarter of an hour back.

At 14.30 o'clock there's a return trip back to Mösl as starting point or even to Hippach. This is a tour, which is nearly always achievable!
