Car parking is also available at the Schlegeis Reservoir. It is necessary, however, to leave your car registration number and a contact phone number at the toll station or restaurant and let them know that you are on the Berlin High Trail. Cars that have been left for longer than one week without the owner leaving information on his/her whereabouts may be towed away, or even trigger an "emergency situation" – as one could quite rightly assume that something has happened to the hiker(s).
